Outcome of the event: Students came to know about the greatness of the day.

World Braille Day is a time to celebrate the contributions of Louis Braille and to raise awareness about the importance of literacy and education for people who are blind or visually impaired. It is also a time to recognize the many advances in assistive technology that have made it easier for people with visual impairments to access information and communicate with others. These advances include the development of braille displays, screen readers, and other software that allows people to access computers and the internet using braille or speech.
